

Activity 3: Plot

If you've already got an idea for a setting or a character, one way you can work out where to take your story plot is by asking questions.

Here is a wheel with five key questions you can use to develop your plot. Choose one of these questions and see if you can use it to put a new spin on the classic Jack and the Beanstalk story.

My chosen question:
How does asking this question change the story?

Send us your ideas and they could be featured on our Live Lesson on the 16th of January. Simply ask your teacher to email them to live.lessons@bbc.co.uk or use the hashtag #bbclivelessons.
