

Resource 2

Victorian children - images

Child coal miners working as 'puttlers' - moving coal back from the coal face, c 1866.

Click to view image online.

Children working in a Victorian textile factory. One job was to clear strands of cotton from under the looms while the machinery remained in operation.

Click to view image online.

The image shows a street in the centre of Glasgow in the 1870s.

Click to view image online.

The image shows slums in south London in 1905.

Click to view image online.

The image shows the interior of a typical poorer Victorian family home.

Click to view image online.