

Barracuda

Verse 1

Stephano:

I'll be your royal sovereign, and rule across the land –
get married to Miranda and she will hold my hand.
Should anybody ask us how this has come to pass –
I would give the answer: it all comes down to class.

Chorus

And I would be 'Your Majesty',
they call me the big barracuda.
We're living in a paradise as you can plainly see
here on the island of dreams.

Verse 2

Caliban:

You are my royal master, on that we can agree.
I'll be your loyal monster and serve on bended knee.
Coz that's the way we like it, that's how it's meant to be and I would be as happy as the fishes in the sea.

Chorus

And I would be 'Your Majesty',
they call me the big barracuda.
We're living in a paradise as you can plainly see
here on the island of dreams.

Verse 3

Stephano:

I'd love to do my duty and wear the royal crown.
The soldiers will salute me, I'll look them up and down.
They know their royal sovereign is always in demand,
and every now and then they'll say 'Your wish is my command'.

Extended chorus

And I would be 'Your Majesty',
(They call him the big enchilada).
They call me the big barracuda (bada-boom)
The top banana (bada-boom)
The fat piranha (bada-boom)
We're living in a paradise as you can plainly see,
Here on the island of dreams.

Extended chorus

And I would be 'Your Majesty'.
(They call him the big enchilada).
They call me the big barracuda (bada-boom)
The top banana (bada-boom)
The fat piranha (bada-boom)
We're living in a paradise as you can plainly see,
Here on the island of dreams.
Here on the island of dreams.
Here on the island of dreams.
