

What is she reading?

A text is something you read. What is this woman reading?

She isn't reading a website because it's on a piece of paper.

She only has one piece of paper, so it isn't a book.

It can't be a newspaper because the sheet of paper is quite small.

She is smiling so I don't think it could be a bill.

I think it could be a letter from someone she knows.

Even without reading something, you can often tell what it is by looking at it and making guesses.