Planning a CV using a spider diagram

This is a spider diagram Michael drew for planning his curriculum vitae (CV). He put the main topic (himself) in the middle. Then coming off the central idea are all the topics he wanted to include in his CV, such as his work history, personal qualities, educational background and hobbies.

Tips

- Include new things to a spider diagram as you think of them. Add a new branch if you need one (for example, Michael could add information about voluntary work he's done).
- The spider diagram can be as small or as big as you want to make it.
