

Doctor Who – Science fiction

Doctor Who: Magic of the Angels by Jacqueline Rayner

About the book

The Doctor, Amy and Rory meet an old enemy when they get mixed up with a talent show for magicians. With the help of some new friends from an old people's home, they discover just why young girls have been going missing.

Whatever you do – don't blink!

You can listen to the first chapter here:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/p00nr2kq>

What is science fiction?

Science fiction stories and films are easy to spot. They often involve aliens, space and time travel. Some are set in alien worlds or in the future.

Doctor Who is a good example of science fiction. The Doctor travels through time and space in the TARDIS and fights aliens with his sonic screwdriver.

Some of the creepiest Doctor Who stories are set on Earth in the present. Magic of the Angels is one of them.

The story begins with the Doctor, Amy and Rory on a tourist bus in London.

Everything seems normal. Any fan of Doctor Who knows there will be horrors to come!

Factsheet Entry 1&2