

Symmetry in everyday shapes - answers

Some shapes that you might have identified are:

- squares
- rectangles
- triangles
- semi-circles
- arches - made up by combining semi-circles with rectangles

The building itself does have symmetry. However, the statues on the top mean that it's not possible to draw a line of symmetry. The angle at which the photograph is taken would also make it difficult.